I. Purpose

This section describes departmental responsibilities for handling and processing cash and cash equivalents and central campus administrative departments’ responsibilities related to cashiering, to ensure that cash and cash equivalents are protected, accurately processed, and properly reported.

II. Definitions

Additional definitions are available in BFB BUS-49.

A. Cash Receipt document (CR)—document in the campus financial information system used to record receipts associated with corresponding cash collections.

B. Cashiering employee—any employee who receives, reconciles, or in any way handles cash for their department.

III. Policy

A. Individual accountability for cash must be maintained throughout all cashiering operations.

B. Appropriate separation of duties must be maintained at all times (see BUS-49, section II.B).

C. Departments must take adequate steps to ensure security and prevent theft.

IV. Security

A. Deposits must be prepared, made, and reported in dual custody in a complete, timely, and accurate manner; and must be transported in dual custody, regardless of dollar amount.

B. Spare keys to cash drawers, and to safe compartments where cash drawers are stored, must be maintained under dual control at all times.

C. Stations that collect more than $7,500 in cash and cash equivalents on a daily basis must be protected by doors and windows as follows:

1. Each door from a public or general area used daily for entrance and exit must have an automatic door closer, be a solid core door or be reinforced with sheet metal, and be outfitted with a peephole or other visual monitoring device.
   a. The door must be equipped with a latchbolt that is retracted by lever from the inside and only by key from the outside.
   b. The outside lever must always be fixed in a locked position.
   c. The door lock must also contain a deadbolt that is thrown or retracted by an inside thumbturn. Turning the inside lever must retract both deadbolt and latchbolt simultaneously.

2. A door used only as an emergency exit must have an automatic door closer and be a solid core door or be reinforced by a metal sheet.
a. The door must be equipped with a deadbolt, retractable by a crash bar.
b. The door must be wired to a central alarm point if such coverage is available; otherwise, it may have a local alarm only.
c. The alarm must be triggered whenever the door is opened.
d. Numbered breakable seals must be affixed to the door to assure that a key cannot be used for undetected entry.
e. The sealing, recording, and monitoring of numbered seals must be by a person who does not have access to a key.

3. Keys to the doors will be manufactured with cylinders whose blank keys are not available to the general consumer and therefore cannot be duplicated.

4. Keys to the doors will be numbered, and a written record of key issuance to employees will be maintained in the cashiering station.

   b. If a CR is out of balance when received by the Main Cashier’s Office, the adjustment will be documented and forwarded to both the preparer and Internal Control by email.
